COUNTY FIREMEN EXPECT INCREASE

Indications Point To Addition Of Cashtown, Bonneauville and New Oxford.

Hopes for the organization on an active basis of three more fire companies in Adams county are entertained by the County Firemen's Association with the announcement that both Cashtown and Bonneauville have arranged to hold mass meetings on Friday night with every promise of ample enthusiasm to accomplish tangible results.

New Oxford, while organized some time ago, is at present working to raise funds for the purchase of fire-fighting equipment, and new "pup" will be installed into the organization in the near future, it is declared.

Thus, representatives of the Adams County Firemen's Association state that they have every assurance that the ten fire companies in the County will be increased to thirteen by the time the next quarterly meeting of the Association is held the first Monday in January at New Oxford.

The mass meeting Friday night at Cashtown will be held in the public school building, and that at Bonneauville will be held in the Parochial Hall.

Committees were appointed at the last quarterly meeting of the County Association in Arendtsville for the purpose of assisting in the organization of fire companies in New Oxford, Cashtown, Bonneauville, York Springs, Abbottstown and Aspers.

The Bonneauville committee is H. J. Adams, Peter Smith and A. A. Smith, of Mount Rock; William J. Adair, C. T. Tipton and Arthur E. Hutchison, of Gettysburg.

The committee which will go to Cashtown consists of Joseph Codori, M. E. Crouse and William G. Weaver, of Gettysburg, and D. A. Washington, H. C. Bucher and Emory Funt, of Biglerville.

All members of the Gettysburg Fire Company, as well as members of each of the other fire companies in the county, have been urged to attend one or the other of these meetings Friday night in addition to the committees appointed. The meetings start at 7:30.

The New Oxford company, in its effort to raise funds for the purchase of new apparatus and motor-driven pumper, held a fair and foodsale recently in the town. The firemen have promised to call a special meeting in the near future, when steps will be taken to join the County Association.

State Bounties Increased on Wild Cats

Seasons is Given.

True to predictions—that rabbits would prove to be scarce in Adams county this year, reports received at the office of The Times this morning showed only fair luck befell a few sportsmen on the opening day of the season. Some who remained long in the field succeeded in obtaining the limit of five rabbits.

Harmon Zinn, son of County Treasurer Roy E. Zinn, was able to secure 4 rabbits by 8 o'clock; Earl A. Deatrick reported shooting 5, the limit for one day, by 8:15; Arthur E. Hutchison's bag contained 3 rabbits before 8 o'clock; Ralph Deatrick reported getting 5 rabbits by 10 o'clock; Jacob H. Swisher captured 3 of the animals by 10 o'clock; L. L. Taylor, of the Gettysburg National Bank, hunting in company with C. W. Stock, of the same bank, each succeeded in getting two to their bag by the time they ceased hunting at 7:45.

Reports on squirrels have not begun to come in. With thousands of Adams county sportsmen out at the clear and frosty dawn this morning, "Alley Rabbits" or stray cats, came in for their share in offering targets to the rabbit and squirrel hunters' guns, as the result of a plea made Thursday by Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the State game commission, in an open letter to sportsmen all over the State.

Stray and deserted house cats are painted as black as the crow when it comes to destroying game, says Mr. Gordon, and her doom is decreed. Stray cats and crows are referred to as vermin, and he announces that in the 1922 hunting season approximately 80,000 cats were killed off by hunters.

"Due to the ancient traditions concerning the killing of cats," says Mr. Gordon, "many persons in Pennsylvania unfortunately take cats they no longer desire out in the forests and release them rather than put them to death in an humane manner."

These cats, local sportsmen declare, are wholesale slaughterers of young game in the form of rabbits, partridges and pheasant, and wander about the woods taking their annual toll of game birds and animals for food.

The attention of sportsmen has been directed to the increase in bounty on gray foxes from $2 to $4, and on wildcats from $8 to $15. There are no bounties on crows or stray cats but their extermination is being actively worked for by all true sportsmen in the interests of conservation of game, and toward which farmers of Adams county actively cooperate.

Game Laws in Adams County. Following is a complete list of the open seasons on game applying throughout Adams county and the State. It is published in a handy form so that the list can be clipped from The Times and carried by the hunter in his pocket. In the event of anyone questioning his right to shoot

LEAGUE HONORS DEAD MEMBERS

Sessions of Twelfth Annual Convention of Woman's League
Opens Here.

An impressive memorial service for the members who have died since the last annual convention featured the opening sessions of the twelfth annual convention of the Woman's General League of Gettysburg College, which opened its day and one-half conference at the College Y. M. C. A. building at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. W. F. Strouse, of Baltimore, was in charge of the memorial service. As the name of each deceased member of the League was read, the delegate from the branch in which she was a member placed a white flower in a vase. In all, fifteen such tributes were offered to members of the General League who died since the 1922 convention.

With Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson presiding, the twelfth annual convention got under way after a passage of scripture was read by Miss Sue Elizabeth Stoeber, of Philadelphia, and prayer was offered by Mrs. Lewis E. Kinch, of Pittsburgh. Mrs. E. Felton, of Gettysburg, gave the report of the credential committee.

Welcoming the delegates to Gettysburg for the annual conference, Mrs. C. Lee Shilliday, president of the Gettysburg League, told of the wonderful influence the Y. M. C. A. was having on the student body. To the address of welcome, Mrs. William L. Goodman responded.

After the roll call of leagues and the appointment of committees for the convention's business affairs, the "In Memoriam" service was conducted by Mrs. Strouse, at the conclusion of which the College quartet sang a selection. The morning session came to a close at noon. The second session of the convention began at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock in Brua Chapel, a pageant written by Mrs. Hanson and moving pictures of the inauguration of Dr. Hanson as president of College will be the features. This and all sessions of the convention are open to the public.

Rumors That Football Game Saturday Was Off Are False

Coach W. W. Wood and A Member of The Athletic Council Emphatically Deny That Athletic Relations Between Gettysburg and Dickinson Had Been Severed; Team Being Primed For Contest With Old Rivals.

Rumors from Carlisle, via Harrisburg, that the Gettysburg College athletic authorities and those of Dickinson had severed relations, and that the Gettysburg-Dickinson game at the Island Park, Harrisburg, Saturday had been called off were squashed by Coach W. W. Wood and by a member of the athletic council here this morning.

It was said in word received from Harrisburg that Gettysburg had entered formal protest against the presence in the Dickinson lineup Saturday of Behman, the Carlisle outfit's captain, on the ground that he is playing professional football. It was said also that the athletic authorities here had protested against Wisnisky playing Saturday on the ground that he did not have sufficient entrance credits to get into Dickinson being contra to an agreement which Dickinson was to have signed with Gettysburg.

When informed of the rumors from Carlisle, Coach W. W. Wood said his team would play Dickinson Saturday irrespective of whom they might put in the lineup. He added that his team knew what to expect Saturday and that it was being drilled in the best he knew both as to attack and defense. He said he was taking no chances.

HOSPITAL GIVEN PLACE IN LIST OF THOSE APPROVED

Warner Institution Organization Quietly
Celebrating Rating
Given by American
College of Surgeons;
Inspection Covers All
Phases of Hospital's Activities.

The Annie M. Warner Hospital here has been placed on the list of hospitals of fifty beds and upward meeting with the approval of the American College of Surgeons, according to Dr. J. McCrea Dickson, West Middle street, who last week attended the clinical congress of that organization in Chicago.

The American College of Surgeons, an organization of surgeons of North and South America, began two years ago to bring the hospitals of America to a standard service. It was realized, Dr. Dickson said, that many hospitals were poorly organized and operated, and that the community served by the inefficient hospital suffered the consequences.

In 1922, the College of Surgeons listed the hospitals of 100 beds and over, which inspectors had visited and found efficient. In 1923, hospitals of 50 beds and upward were inspected by surgeons sent over the country for that purpose.

At the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, which met in Chicago last week, the Warner Hospital was listed as an approved institution in the published list of all approved hospitals in America.

The College inspector visited the local hospital in August and unannounced, prior to his coming, spent the day going over all phases of the management of the Warner Hospital with the superintendent, Miss Martha McKay.

His placing of the Warner Hospital in the approved list for 1923 has been gratifying to those closely connected with its management, it is declared, since all efforts have been made since the organization of the institution to keep its standards of service above reproach.

Once a hospital has been placed in the approved list it does not mean that it may not be blacklisted later, it is pointed out, since the American College of Surgeons' inspectors visit hospitals unannounced at any interval deemed desirable, and laxity in service will mean immediate dropping from the approved list.

The Warner Hospital authorities feel elated, however, that efforts up to this time have received approval and renewed efforts for the coming year will be made to keep the hospital (Continued on Third Page)

(By Associated Press.)
Harrisburg, Nov. 1.—Objections to the new rates of the Biglerville Water Company, Adams county, which became effective today have been filed by W. K. Enck and others. It is alleged before the Public Service Commission that the increased rates are unjust and unreasonable.

At a meeting of the committee of protest of the Biglerville Chamber of Commerce, which is carrying the question of increased water rates to the Public Service Commission, a report of the progress of the work was made. This report showed that in the entire borough only three refusals to contribute to the fund were met by members in their canvass. Several property owners have not yet been seen and it is expected that the canvass will be completed within a short time. The protest is now in the hands of the commission and decision is not expected for sixty days.

BRITISH WARN OF RHINE COUP

Inform France Provinces Separated From Reich May Evade Payments.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The British Government through its Ambassador, the Marquis of Crewe, has sent two communications to the French Foreign Office, which were received there as in happy accord with the conciliatory spirit shown by France in recent intercourse between the two countries.

The note drew the French Foreign Office's attention to the juridical consequences which might be entailed by the separation of Germany from certain provinces in that such provinces were not signatories of the Treaty of Versailles and so would not directly have assumed obligations laid upon the Reich by this treaty.

Proposes Joint Note To U. S.
It has been reported that the note contained various statements, including criticism of certain measures taken by the French and Belgians in the zones of occupation, but it can be said that the note is limited to the above declaration, based on the Treaty of Versailles. An identical communication was made to the Belgian Government.

The second note contained a proposal to the French Government to send a joint British, French, Italian and Belgian invitation to the United States to be represented in the committee of experts which will make an economic investigation into Germany's capacity for the payment of reparations and the means Germany possesses to fulfill her obligations.

The joint invitation will express thanks to the United States for its collaboration and beg the Government to appoint delegates through its observer on the Reparation Commission. Thus it can be seen that the British note neither raises objections nor asks the French Government to specify its intentions, as has been reported in London.

Favorable Replies Likely
Premier Poincaré did not have time Wednesday to draft replies, but as apparently not the slightest difference exists between the governments in the two questions treated therein there is no doubt as to the nature of the replies.

BLAME THREE IN NAVY DISASTER

Trio on Delphy Found Responsible For Wreck of Destroyers.

CAPT. E. H. WATSON NAMED

Squadron Commander and Two Others Charged With Culpable Inefficiency. Several Cited For Bravery.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Bad judgment and faulty navigation on the part of three officers caused the loss of 23 lives and of naval material to the value of $13,000,000 in the destroyer accident on Honda Point, California, September 8, the board of inquiry declared in its final report to Secretary Denby.

On the recommendations of the board Captain Edward H. Watson, the squadron commander; Lieut.-Com. Donald T. Hunter, commanding the Delphy, flagship and leader of the nine destroyers which grounded, and Lieutenant Lawrence F. Blodgett, navigator of the Delphy, will be charged before a general court-martial with "culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty" and negligence.

Either Others To Face Charges
Eight other officers, including the commanders of as many destroyers which figured in the catastrophe, will face charges of negligence in performance of duty.

The report was declared by veteran naval officers here to be almost unprecedented in its sweeping condemnation for the disaster.

"In the opinion of the court," it said, "the disaster is, in the first instance, directly attributable to bad errors of judgment and faulty navigation on the part of the officers attached to and serving on the Delphy. viz.: The squadron commander, the commanding officer and the navigation officer. Their responsibility is complete and the court sees no extenuating circumstances."

Followed Lead Too Blindly
Commanders of the other destroyers must be held responsible in a measure, the board found, for having "too blindly followed the judgment of the squadron commander," and in failing to check the position of their individual ships against that ascertained for the Delphy.

Dividing the fatal cruise of the flotilla into three periods, the board declared the first two "reflect no credit upon the navy," but commended highly the morale shown in the third period, which comprised the time after the ships had struck.

"From that instant," the report said, "Squadron 11 displayed a zeal, courage and coolness in face of grave danger which is a matter of pride to the navy and should be to every American. From the commander down there was perfect discipline and the highest traditions of the service were lived up to. Not a single case is reported on any ship where officers or men faltered in their duty or failed to act calmly under orders. It is due to this perfect discipline that the loss of life was so small."

Several Cited For Their Action
Among individuals specially cited were:

Commander William L. Calhoun, "for coolness, intelligence and seamanship"; Lieut.-Com. Walter D. Seed, "for great bravery in swimming 75 yards in a turbulent sea to test the feasibility of arrangement for salvage of his crew"; Ensign B. S. Jones and nine members of the crew of the Fuller for volunteering to operate a whaleboat "in the face of constant danger"; Chief Boatswain's Mate Arthur Peterson, Engineer E. L. Rhodehamel and Machinist Frank M. Moon, "for extraordinary heroism," and Lieutenant E. C. Herzinger, "for especially meritorious conduct." Machinist C. G. Osterguard was commended for remaining at his post on the Chauncey until water was above his waist, and Commander W. G. Roper, for seaman-like ability.

A unique contest for the purpose of raising funds for class purposes was staged at Biglerville High School this week when a popularity contest was held by the Senior Class. Any member of the school was eligible and votes were sold by the class members, the proceeds going to the class treasury. The winners were: Most popular girl: Ruth Linah; second, Esther Bigham; third, Maybelle Lady; most popular boy, Roy Oyler; second, Rhey Ziegler, and third, Homer Gilbert. Prizes were awarded the winners. A neat sum was realized by the class. Clifford Bucher had charge of the affair.

CLOCK WAS WORRY TO TRAPPED MEN

"Last 20 Minutes Terrible," Says One of Crew of Sunken Submarine.

Balboa, Canal Zone, Nov. 1.—"After watching the clock for fifteen hours we could stand it no longer. The last twenty minutes were terrible."

Lawrence T. Brown, chief electrician's mate of the United States submarine O-5, which sank in Canal Zone waters, Wednesday gave the United Press his story of how it feels to be trapped for many hours in a disabled submarine on the bottom of the sea where every breath brings death nearer.

Brown, who hails from Lowell, Mass., and Henry Breault, of White Plains, N. Y., were rescued alive from the sunken submarine.

"I was below, resting before going on duty, when the crash came," said Brown. The crash was a collision with a steamship.

"I was aroused by Breault. We both went into the torpedo room closing the door behind us. The boat sank in thirty seconds, settling in forty feet of water at an angle of 70 degrees to starboard.

"We hung to a ladder to keep from rolling into twelve inches of water which had come in before the door was closed. The lights went out about thirty seconds after we went down. We had a flashlight but no food and no water.

Batteries Explode
"Forty-five minutes after going down, the batteries in the after compartment exploded and the fire burned for five minutes, making it very hot."

BIGLER LOSES IN HANOVER GAME 2-1

After First Point Early in Game, is Unable to Get by Goal Keeper.

The jinx is still on Biglerville and the upper-end countians lost to Hanover High in a Mason-Dixon Soccer League game by a score of 2 to 1. Biglerville simply could not shoot and lost chance after chance to score. Morning, the Hanover goalie, being busier than a one-armed man chasing mosquitoes. Bigler put one over before the game was two minutes old and then carried the ball into Hanover territory for the greater part of the time. Just before half time, Hanover got a corner kick and in the ensuing scrimmage, booted the ball through. In the second half, the ball was mostly in Hanover territory but Biglerville was unable to score. The visitors made a point however on a long drive down the field about the middle of the half, in which Greenaway, Houck and Lingg figured, Greenaway getting credit for the goal.

The line-up follows:
Biglerville Positions Hanover
Kennedy goal Morning
Burtnett right full Smith
Hartman left full Moul
Miller right half Sullivan
Weaver center half Crawford
Gilbert left half Martz
Slaybaugh right out Baugher
Diehl right in Hilbert
Oyler center Greenaway
Goals: Greenaway 2; Diehl; Referee, Stock; Time of Halves 30 minutes.

SEE DEATH OF PRESENT SEPARATIST MOVEMENTS

Greater Support on Part of General Population Required, is Said.

(By Associated Press.)

Coblentz, Nov. 1.—Unless there is some indication soon that efforts to establish an independent Rhineland state have the support of the general population, the present Separatist movement may dissolve of itself within a few weeks, it was said here today in official circles which are in touch with all developments.

Several proposals for compromise already have been advanced. One of these provides for an autonomous state, but the leaders of the provincial government of the new Rhine and Republic say they will not consider any such proposition.

There are many representative citizens who favor autonomy, but they will have nothing to do with the present movement. At the French headquarters it was said to be apparent now that the present movement is not backed by the people generally.

NEW POLITICAL CRISIS IN BERLIN

United Socialists Threaten To Quit Coalition Unless Demands Are Granted.

CHANCELLOR HAS 24 HOURS

Call For Easier Treatment of Saxony and Stronger Hand in Bavaria; Abolish Military Emergency.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—After a party caucus lasting seven hours the United Socialists' Reichstag delegation Wednesday night drafted a program of demands upon which it makes contingent its further membership in the present coalition government. While the nature of its communication to Chancellor Stresemann suggests a 24-hour ultimatum the Reichstag leaders believe that its tenor and contents are wholly dictated by the desire of the party's moderate leaders to appease its clamorous radical wing, which has been endeavoring to stampede the party into defection from the coalition.

The Socialists' Ministers, Sollmann, Radburch and Schmidt, whose withdrawal from the Cabinet was under advisement at yesterday's caucus, informed their comrades that the Government's action against Saxony had not been referred to the Cabinet, but was determined and put into execution by the federal Government's military commander in Dresden, General Von Mueller, and the Reichstag commissioner, Dr. Heinz.

Fear Parliamentary Crisis
The party's moderated wing succeeded in winning over the radical majority to support of the anti-secessionist sentiment, in view of the general internal situation and the further fact that the new Saxon Government required aid from Berlin, which would not be forthcoming if the Socialists were out of the Government.

There was also strong suspicion discernible in the ranks of the leaders of the moderated section that a parliamentary crisis precipitated by the Socialists at this time would prove a doubtful asset to the party's prestige—this because the issues on which the party is at variance with the Chancellor constitute poor political propaganda, especially in view of the Socialists' recent ill-starred union with the Saxon Communists.

Will Ask Withdrawal of Troops

The party's Reichstag delegation will suggest to Dr. Stresemann that the existing military state of emergency be converted into a federal civil regime and that the federal troop contingents in Saxony shall be reduced and the policing functions there assigned to the local organization.

Regarding Bavaria the Socialists are considerably more aggressive; they peremptorily demand that the central government come out in the open and publicly brand Bavaria's attitude toward the Federal authorities as a breach of the constitution, and deal with it accordingly. The Socialists also request the Government to speed up its program for stabilized wages and demand that it proceed against all who fail to make prompt deliveries of food supplies.

Resolution Adopted at Caucus

The text of the resolution adopted at the caucus follows:

"The Socialist party can remain in the coalition only on the following conditions: First, abolition of the military state of emergency; second, the Government must clearly treat the Bavarian Government's attitude as a breach of the constitution and, in accordance with the Reich's constitution, immediately take necessary steps against Bavaria; third, the maintenance of law and order in Saxony is a task for the police. The supporters of Nationalist aspirations who lately joined the Reichswehr must be immediately dismissed."

NOW WON'T THAT BE WONDERFUL?

THREE MEN AND A MAID

Copyright, by George H. Doran Co.

And he would like to see the man, thought Sam, who could have put it more cleverly and pleasantly and tactfully than that.

"What are you talking about?" said Mr. Bennett, recovering his breath. "I haven't got a son."

"I will be a son to you! I will be the prop of your declining years. . . ."

"What the devil do you mean, my declining years?" demanded Mr. Bennett with asperity.

"He means when they do decline, father, dear," said Billie.

"Of course, of course," said Sam. "When they do decline. Not till then, of course! I wouldn't dream of it. But, once they do decline, count on me! And I should like to say for my part, he went on handsomely, 'what an honor I think it, to become the son-in-law of a man like Mr. Bennett. Bennett of New York' he added sardoniously, not so much because he knew what he meant, for he would have been the first to admit that he did not, but because it sounded well.

"Oh!" said Mr. Bennett. "You do, do you?"

Mr. Bennett sat down. He put away his handkerchief, which had certainly earned a rest. Then he fastened a baleful stare upon his newly discovered son. It was not the sort of look a proud and happy father-in-law-to-be ought to have directed at a prospective relative. It was not, as a matter of fact, the sort of look which anyone ought to have directed at anybody except possibly an exceptionally prudish judge at a criminal in the dock, convicted of a more than usually atrocious murder. Billie, not being in the actual line of fire, only caught the tail end of it, but it was enough to create a misgiving.

"Oh, father! You aren't angry."

"Angry!"

"You can't be angry!"

"Why can't I be angry?" demanded Mr. Bennett, with that sense of injury which comes to self-willed men when their whims are thwarted. "Why the devil shouldn't I be angry? I am angry! I come here and find you like—like this, and you seem to expect me to throw my hat in the air and give three rousing cheers! Of course I'm angry! You are engaged to be married to an excellent young man of the highest character, one of the finest young men I have ever met. . . ."

"Oh, well!" said Sam, straightening his tie modestly. "Of course, if you say so. . . . It's awfully good of you."

"But, father," cried Billie, "I never really loved Bream. I like him very much, but I could never love him. I only got engaged to him because you were so anxious for it, and because. . . . I had quarreled with the man I really loved. . . . I don't want to marry Bream."

"Naturally!" said Sam. "Naturally! Quite out of the question. In a few days we'll all be roaring with laughter at the very idea."

Mr. Bennett scowled him with a look compared with which his earlier effort had been a loving glance.

"Vilhelmina," he said, "go into the outer office."

"The misunderstanding to which you allude has been completely smoothed over. My relations with Mr. Mortimer are thoroughly cordial."

"Well, have it your own way. Personally, I wouldn't trust a man like that. And, as for letting my daughter marry his son. . . ."

"I have decided once and for all. . . ."

"If you'll take my advice, you will break the thing off."

"I will not take your advice."

"I wouldn't expect to charge you for it," explained Sam, reassuringly. "I give it to you as a friend, not as a lawyer. Six-and-eightpence to others, free to you."

"Will you understand that my daughter is going to marry Bream Mortimer? What are you giggling about?"

"It sounds so silly. The idea of anyone marrying Bream Mortimer, I mean."

"Let me tell you he is a thoroughly estimable young man."

"And there you put the whole thing in a nutshell. Your daughter is a girl of spirit. She would hate to be tied for life to an estimable young man."

"She will do as I tell her."

Sam regarded him sternly. "Have you no regard for her happiness?"

"I am the best judge of what is best for her."

"If you ask me," said Sam candidly, "I think you're a rotten judge."

"I did not come here to be insulted!"

"I like that! You have been insulting me ever since you arrived. What right have you to say that I'm not fit to marry your daughter?"

"I did not say that."

"You've implied it. And you've been looking at me as if I were a leper or something the pure food committee has condemned. Why? That's what I ask you," said Sam, warning up. This, he fancied, was the way Widgey would have tackled a troublesome client.

"Yes, let's talk it over calmly," said Sam.

"I will not talk it over calmly!"

"Oh, come! You can do it if you try."

"Bream Mortimer is the son of Henry Mortimer."

"I know," said Sam. "And, while it is no doubt unfair to hold that against him, it's a point you can't afford to ignore. Henry Mortimer! You and I have Henry Mortimer's number. We know what Henry Mortimer is like! A man who spends his time thinking up ways of annoying you. You can't seriously want to have the Mortimer family linked to you by marriage."

"Henry Mortimer is my oldest friend."

"That makes it all the worse. Fancy a man who calls himself your friend treating you like that!"

If passed, this Amendment will authorize the issuance of $50,000,000 of State highway bonds with which to complete the State-wide road building program that was begun with the $50,000,000 authorized in 1918.

If this Amendment is defeated, the Pennsylvania good roads development will be deferred for years.

THE PRESIDENT'S TIME

A correspondent of a New York newspaper, in commenting on the fact that the other day 577 persons shook President Coolidge's hand and that he looked tired after the ceremony, utters a protest against thus worrying a president and exhausting his strength in trivial and unrelated things. He recalls to our minds that it was just a short time ago we were lamenting that this was one of the things that killed President Harding.

We think it will be recalled that President Wilson abandoned that habit and no doubt wisely. When President Harding entered the White House he restored the custom. He had been accustomed to meeting persons, and he felt that to exclude himself after attaining the presidency would look as if he had felt himself above his fellows if he had refused to be the cordial person he had been.

But the circumstances of the presidency did make a change in his habits because it made a change in his duties and responsibilities, and to attempt both was attempting too much.

A president's time belongs to the public service and not to the claims of any particular individual whose ambition is to shake hands with him and then go about boasting that he had shaken the hand of a president. A president of the United States has ceased to be a curiosity to the American people; we should not require one occupying the first position of the land to put himself on public exhibition merely to gratify individual curiosity.

No president should be required by custom, as he is not required by virtue of his office, either to omit his attention to the public duty, or to waste his strength in such trivial matters. A president, like Theodore Roosevelt, big and husky and of a most remarkable virility, an athlete, could possibly not only stand the strain, but even find relief from hard work in it. But not all presidents are built physically like Roosevelt, nor do they have his abounding energy. Nor do we want any one type of man in the presidency.

What every president should be, and what every president should be permitted to be, is to be himself. Variety is as important in that position as in any other.

Boy Washed 80 Feet Through Pipe

CHAMBERSBURG.—Washed 80 feet through a four-foot pipe leading to the water wheel at the Entriean Mill at Fayetteville Monday evening at 5 o'clock, Wilbur Zimmerman, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Beattie Zimmerman of that place, escaped death when he was rescued by John Heckman, a mill employee, who jumped into the water near the wheel and carried the boy to safety. His face a ghastly blue from water-clogged lungs, the lad was carried to the road nearby where first aid measures were applied to produce artificial respiration. He exhaled a quantity of water. Later he was placed under the care of Dr. C. A. Hartzell and Monday night no serious results were expected from the lad's experience. Tuesday morning he was pronounced out of danger. The Zimmerman lad was playing at the water basin at the east end of the pipe with Elder Entriean, 6 years old, son of Harry Entriean, mill operator. When he fell into the water, young Entriean called to Hiram Flack, working nearby, and

THE ART OF LOSING

Lord, when I'm being trimmed at golf
Or bridge or what the game may be,
When all my shots are slightly off,
Please make a gentleman of me!
Teach me to fight to hold my place,
But let me lose with decent grace.

Lord, when it's not my day to win,
Let me not whimper or complain;
Teach me, at least, to keep my grin
Although my very best is vain.
Let me not curse my luck or wail,
Oh, teach my spirit how to fail!

Lord, when the odds against me lie,
Whatever goal it is I seek,
Let me look failure in the eye
And still be kindly when I speak.

Flack sounded the alarm. John Heckman ran to the west end of the 80-foot long pipe and saw the boy's body come from the end of the pipe. He jumped into the water and carried him to safety.

To Continue Challenge Sales

CHAMBERSBURG.—The Ad Club did an about-face in true military style on the question of publication of the Challenge Day advertising supplement at a banquet-meeting Monday evening at the Garden in South Main street, attended by 105 members and guests. Reversing its action taken at a former meeting to discontinue the Challenge Day sales and the publication of the supplement during November and December, the club decided that the supplement should go out as usual, each merchant using his contract space as he sees fit. Discussion of the question, presented by President Laird, developed a diversity of opinion on the publication of the supplement. F. C. Eyster stated that he was surprised when he learned that it had been decided to discontinue the sales and supplements for the two months. He pointed out that at the beginning of the year 48 merchants had contracted for 55 spaces in the supplement.

Bluebeard's Beard is Burned

CHAMBERSBURG.—Carl Berger, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Berger, of East Liberty street, was burned about his neck and face Monday evening when part of his masquerade costume caught fire. The lad was masquerading as Bluebeard and had gone to his playhouse in the rear of his home to get his coat. He struck a match to light the way into the playhouse and the head of the match flew off and ignited the beard, which was of fibre and burned quickly. The lad was alone at the time, but managed to find his way back to his home. The burns are not thought to be deep and he was reported as resting well.

Auto Tax is Reduced

FREDERICK.—Thirty-two cents per horsepower will be the charge in 1924 for registering pneumatic-tired automobiles, it was announced by Governor Ritchie. The present charge is 60 cents per horsepower. According to a statement, the 1 cent gasoline tax produced a revenue of $680,479.27 for the fiscal year ended September 30. On this basis the 2-cent gasoline tax, effective on January 1, will produce $1,360,958.54. A statement from D. Marshall Schroeder, Deputy Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, shows that the net receipts for the registration of automobiles for the fiscal year ended September 30 were $2,880,260.35. According to the Governor's computation, made in accordance with the requirement of the law, the receipts from the gasoline tax will permit the reduction of the registration fee from 60 cents to 32 cents per horse power.

Three Farm Buildings Burn

FREDERICK.—The main barn, buggy shed and cow stable on the farm of Ira Ausherman, at Araby, were totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin Tuesday morning about ten o'clock. The straw stack also burned down. The residence escaped, the wind blowing the flames away

Not victory alone I choose,
Teach me, Good Master, how to lose.

Lord, when at last the score is known,
Let those with whom I've shared the sport

Tell no ill-temper I have shown,
Or make of me a poor report.
Hard fighter? Yes, and blow for blow,

But not too keen for victory, though.

Lord, when defeat is mine to bear
Let not my spirit be cast down;
Protect me from a gloomy air,
And save me from the churlish
frown.

And since it is an art to lose,
That art, before all else, I'd choose.

away from the house. Had it not been for the assistance rendered by neighbors, the hog pen also would have been completely destroyed. As it was, it was badly damaged. The live stock escaped. By valiant work the hogs were rescued from the pen. The fire burned very rapidly, and in a short time the buildings were a mass of smoldering ruins. Mr. Ausherman was away at the time of the fire, being engaged in helping to lay rails in the Mt. Airy tunnel, and could not be notified until after the fire was over.

Cars Collide on Bridge

FREDERICK.—Attempting to pass between two cars on the Funkstown bridge Sunday afternoon about 1.30 o'clock, the car driven by Henry Baker, of Harmony, crashed into the car of V. R. Eaton, of Frederick. Baker's machine and that of Eaton were both traveling toward Hagerstown, it is said. As they entered upon the Funkstown bridge another car coming toward them also attempted to cross. Baker, who was driving in the rear of Eaton's car, attempted to pass between the two machines. Owing to the narrowness of the bridge his attempt failed and he was crowded against the Eaton machine damaging it considerably. Both machines were taken to Hagerstown where Baker promised to defray the expenses of repairing the Eaton car.

HAGERSTOWN.—Declaring that no city work had been done on South Boulevard between Potomac street and the Norfolk and Western Railroad despite pre-election promises of City Councilmen, a delegation of citizens of that street appeared before the Board of Street Commissioners Tuesday night, demanding that action be taken. Spokesmen for the delegation declared that Councilmen had called upon them before the municipal elections and promised faithfully to improve the street paving if elected. The delegation said that the paving is so bad at present as to make travel dangerous. The Board promised to remedy the condition. Chief of Police Thomas H. Boy Plays "Jesse James"

HAGERSTOWN.—Emulating the spirit of Jesse James, a fourteen-year-old "bandit" Tuesday night broke into the stable of Tom Garmenos, proprietor of the Boston Lunch Room, and made off with a horse. Followed by an admiring group of companions, the youth galloped through the streets of the city proclaiming himself "a bad guy". After satisfying his craving for action, the youth returned the animal to the stable. Garmenos had in the meantime discovered his loss and was frantically searching the city in an effort to retrieve the horse.

To Repaint Court House

HAGERSTOWN.—The contract for repainting the exterior of the Washington County Court House was Tuesday awarded Walter Tritch, of this city, by the Board of County Commissioners. The painting will be started immediately. The Court House is being remodeled and improved throughout and the interior work is being rushed so that it will be completed when court convenes in November. When the work is all completed Washington County will have the best Court House in the State with the exception of those of Baltimore City.

The Toughest Old

COUGH

Can Now Be Stopped

Lingering coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out.

Those are the breed of coughs that prove that common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day.

It's made to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

And, remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine. It's a prescription for stubborn coughs and that's the kind it speedily conquers.

For ordinary coughs one or two doses is usually enough. Peoples Drug Store can supply you.—adv.

These houses will be either sold or rented when completed, it was stated. They will be desirable homes of modern style with all conveniences. HANOVER—David L. The train came to a stop after traveling only a short distance. The truck was later removed to the P. Stambaugh and Son garage for repairs.

Winter is coming on apace and with it comes the many sports that call for warm comfortable coats. Did you shiver on the grandstand at the football game last week? Will you have plenty of warm snappy clothes to wear to the rest of the games? For the automobile ride in the bracing air of late fall, do you have a good heavy coat? Then there are many other sports and out of door affairs that you will want a warm stylish coat for. We have in our large stocks just what you will need.

These few pieces of twisted wood and steel mutely tell the story of the recent sensational Southern Pacific holdup in a tunnel near Ashland, Ore. The debris is all that remains of the mail car the bandits dynamited. Three trainmen and a mail clerk were killed in the robbery. And this picture also gives an idea of the damage done to the baggage car adjoining the wrecked coach.

OVERCOATS

There's nothing that you wear that attracts more attention than your overcoat. It ought to be favorable attention. It will be if the coat is right-in style, in fit, in quality and in price.

Our name in the coat takes care of everything; it guarantees satisfaction.

Several of the new coats are most unusual. They are all loosely draped; there's plenty of ease and freedom in every one of them.

You may like the belted coats; they're good half belts at the back; or three quarter belts or belts all around.

The Full Coats that Hang

Generously from the Shoulders

are especially stylish, single or double breasted models.

Seventy-Six Thousand New Telephones

That's the number of new Bell Telephones which are being added to the Bell System in Pennsylvania this year, making a total of 850,000.

ADDED is the word, for 76,000 is the net figure. To realize this net gain, we must install a total of 150,000 telephones, not including some fifty thousand moved from one address to another during the year.

And a further gain of 83,500 is expected in 1924.

Installing the telephone instrument, however, is the smallest part of the job.

To carry out our full $30,200,000 program this year means 52 large building operations, half a million miles of new wire, ten millions of dollars in new switchboards and Central Office equipment.

This is the most stupendous construction program ever undertaken in our telephone history.

It is our response to the demand of the people of Pennsylvania for more and more telephones.

Says Allenrhu Surely Conquers Rheumatism

Winchester, Ky., Citizen Cheerfully Recommends This Wonderful Remedy to All Sufferers.

His letter follows: "Burns Avenue, Winchester, Ky. I had severe rheumatism for three months; tried several remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. A friend advised me to try ALLENRHU as it had cured him. I bought three bottles from the George Drug Co., this city. When I began taking this medicine I was unable to do any work. I could neither dress myself nor raise my hand to comb my hair. I am now almost well and feel confident this last of the three bottles I am now taking will completely cure me. I can cheerfully recommend this truly wonderful remedy to any rheumatic sufferer." Signed Asa E. Keer.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless. Druggists guarantee the first pint bottle to show appreciable results or
